Dear Mr. Rizzo,

I must admit I did not know a lot about Spacebel until a few months ago, when a colleague told me about your company, and now I have decided to contact you for a spontaneous application. Among your activities, the GIS / Earth Observation Service is the one that attracts me the most, though I am interested in Data Analytics in general as you will see in my curriculum.

My experience in remote-sensing data dates back to 2006 when I started a PhD in oceanography. Since then, I have worked with a wide range of data and products (temperature, wind, sea-level anomalies, etc), in the frame of several international projects.

In addition to my technical skills, I had the opportunity to lead a team of engineers and program analysts during 3 years at SOCIB, where our work was fully in line with what is mentioned in your web: "Decision making requires Multiple sources and Integrated information".

Therefore I would appreciate the opportunity to meet with you and discuss how my qualifications fit to your needs and lead to solid and innovative outcomes.

Yours sincerely
